Romance Is Right Around the Corner

The crackling campfire, the stars twinkling overhead, and your best friend cuddled up at your side -- there's no question that camping and romance go hand-in-hand. Whether you're newlyweds or have been married for decades, your next camping trip can be the most romantic RV get-away of your life; all it takes is a little thoughtful planning and the right attitude.

Plan a Romantic RV Getaway For Your Valentine

RV Country.com has some interesting advice for your RV Getaway:

"You own an RV, so you're ahead of the game! No need to book an expensive hotel, or worry about a fancy dinner reservation when you can simply plan a romantic Valentine's Day getaway in your own RV.

Do you love the beach? Hiking? Visiting craft breweries or wineries? Whatever it is that you love to do together, you can plan the perfect romantic getaway and show your partner how much you care without breaking the bank.

So whether you want to snuggle up by a campfire with a glass of wine, watch a beautiful sunrise together, enjoy a candlelit dinner for two, walk hand in hand and just talk awhile... Just remember it's all about taking a little time to connect."

This Valentine's Day try something different, unique, and romantic. Take that special someone on a horseback ride on the beach, visit a romantic historic site, or have a glass of wine outside under a beautiful sunset. El Monte RV Rentals has created a way to explore all of these and more with the one you love.

Romantic RV Getaways

Whether it's for an anniversary or a regular vacation, going on a romantic RV getaway with your loved one should be special. With so many beautiful places across the U.S., narrowing down the right location can be difficult. Here we share some truly romantic places to visit in your used or new RV.

Romantic Camping Ideas

A romantic camping getaway can mean escaping life's everyday stresses and sharing each other's appreciation for the sights, sounds and scents of the outdoors and for what you love most about each other.

It also means practicing patience with each other, especially if one of you is a natural scout and the other's idea of camping is renting a fully furnished cabin at a resort. A campsite within a few steps of the car will make it easier to focus on romance than a backcountry site that involves carrying 50-pound backpacks.

Most importantly, take the time to plan with your significant other a getaway that invites romance, from the destination to your tent.

Romantic Camping Road Trip Getaways

With Valentine's Day around the corner it's a perfect time to really enjoy ourselves, our significant others, all in the presence of nature. Here is a list of the top three regions to explore on your romantic camping road trip this Valentine's Day.

But this isn't your typical "Top Three" list. We understand that each couple is unique and that is why we've chosen destinations that speak to the adventure seekers, the cuddly wuddlies, and the infomaniacs!

Valentine's Day and Chocolates

As we grow older, Valentine's Day may become reserved for that special someone in our lives. It gives us the opportunity to go the extra mile by taking them out for a nice dinner and buying them a little something special to show how much we care (chocolates, please).

Even if there isn't a special someone in your life, Valentine's Day is a day to celebrate love in all its forms. The best way, in my opinion, is to give chocolates to your Valentine. All you have to do is feel the love!

It is a day where you can expect to be blinded by the color red. Where there are heart shaped balloons and roses by the dozen; cards filled with promises of love and adulation and chocolates given in an attempt to express the sweetness of this beautiful emotion.

It's a day when many who are whisked off their feet begin to understand the love spoken (and sang) of in Disney movies.

And for those who aren't whisked anywhere, it's a day to consume large amounts of heart-shaped chocolate.

Who says you can't be in love with chocolate? We all know that feeling is divine.
